The Client

A European client.

The Challenge

We were retained by a French client, living in Paris, to find a four bedroom house in Kensington to rent within a time frame of a month. Our client had a clear vision as to what type of property she wanted, which was predominantly to have a large amount of natural light and to be close to good transport links, but not on a busy road. With demand far outstripping supply for good quality rental properties in Kensington, this was a difficult search from the outset.

The Perfect Conclusion

We identified a good size family house on one of the best streets in Kensington, with a very large south facing conservatory and a garden providing the natural light our client wanted. The property also had large floor to ceiling windows on the ground and first floor. We also obtained early access to view this newly purchased property, viewing it long before the property came onto the open rental market. The advantage of the early viewing enabled us to agree a deal long before any other potential tenants had chance to view the house. The property is in our clients preferred location of W8 and is close to the amenities of High Street Kensington and also a short walk to Notting Hill Tube Station for the central line.
